

William Morehead <wilmore@pdx.edu>

GPA

6 messages

William Morehead <wilmore@pdx.edu>
To: Leo Perez Lopez <lperez2@pdx.edu>

Tue, Aug 13, 2024 at 12:29 AM

Hello, I was looking over my unofficial transcripts after noting my GPA in My PSU was a 2.8... I don't understand. I have a current GPA of 3.9. There's a philosophy class from back when i was 18 that I never actually took from chemeketa it says I got an F in. I registered for the class but i dropped it and never even went to a single class. Then there are 0's for a lot of classes I took at Clackamas that should all be 4.0's. What's going on with my transcripts?

Leo Perez Lopez <lperez2@pdx.edu>
To: William Morehead <wilmore@pdx.edu>

Tue, Aug 13, 2024 at 11:13 AM

Hi William,

The reason why it is a 2.8 is because the vocational classes that you took at PCC do not go towards the GPA. They are transferred as a Pass/No Pass. The 2.8 is coming from courses that are counted as letter grades from your PHL 201, WR 121, Psychology class. You have a 3.9 for your vocational program, but since the majority of the credits do not transfer over and are counted as Pass/No Pass they do not go towards the GPA at PSU. On your official transcript from Chemeketa, I am seeing that you received an F. If this is incorrect, I recommend speaking with Chemeketa's Registrar Office and see what can be done. Since Fall term is your first term at PSU, you get a new GPA from PSU which you have the opportunity to definitely increase your cumulative GPA.

I hope this makes sense. Please feel free to ask any clarifying questions.

Leo Perez

On Tue, Aug 13, 2024 at 12:29 AM William Morehead <wilmore@pdx.edu> wrote:

Hello, I was looking over my unofficial transcripts after noting my GPA in My PSU was a 2.8... I don't understand. I have a current GPA of 3.9. There's a philosophy class from back when i was 18 that I never actually took from chemeketa it says I got an F in. I registered for the class but i dropped it and never even went to a single class. Then there are 0's for a lot of classes I took at Clackamas that should all be 4.0's. What's going on with my transcripts?

William Morehead <wilmore@pdx.edu>
To: Leo Perez Lopez <lperez2@pdx.edu>

Thu, Aug 15, 2024 at 1:06 AM

so the phl class was from over 20 years ago. I backed out of going to college altogether when i was 18... im almost 40. Is it normal to include things like this? I'm just curious

On Tue, Aug 13, 2024 at 11:13 AM Leo Perez Lopez <lperez2@pdx.edu> wrote:

Hi William,

The reason why it is a 2.8 is because the vocational classes that you took at PCC do not go towards the GPA. They are transferred as a Pass/No Pass. The 2.8 is coming from courses that are counted as letter grades from your PHL 201, WR 121, Psychology class. You have a 3.9 for your vocational program, but since the majority of the credits do not transfer over and are counted as Pass/No Pass they do not go towards the GPA at PSU. On your official transcript from Chemeketa, I am seeing that you received an F. If this is incorrect, I recommend speaking with Chemeketa's Registrar Office and see what can be done. Since Fall term is your first term at PSU, you get a new GPA from PSU which you have the opportunity to definitely increase your cumulative GPA.

I hope this makes sense. Please feel free to ask any clarifying questions.

Leo Perez

On Tue, Aug 13, 2024 at 12:29 AM William Morehead <wilmore@pdx.edu> wrote:

Hello, I was looking over my unofficial transcripts after noting my GPA in My PSU was a 2.8... I don't understand. I have a current GPA of 3.9. There's a philosophy class from back when i was 18 that I never actually took from chemeketa it says I got an F in. I registered for the class but i dropped it and never even went to a single class. Then there are 0's for a lot of classes I took at Clackamas that should all be 4.0's. What's going on with my transcripts?

William Morehead <wilmore@pdx.edu>
To: Leo Perez Lopez <lperez2@pdx.edu>

Thu, Aug 15, 2024 at 1:09 AM

Just to clarify, I had enrolled in like 3 classes. Never went to a single one. I'm actually quite surprised to see a grade at all. I certainly never paid for the class lol. I guess "F" was for "Free" lol

On Tue, Aug 13, 2024 at 11:13 AM Leo Perez Lopez <lperez2@pdx.edu> wrote:

Hi William,

The reason why it is a 2.8 is because the vocational classes that you took at PCC do not go towards the GPA. They are transferred as a Pass/No Pass. The 2.8 is coming from courses that are counted as letter grades from your PHL 201, WR 121, Psychology class. You have a 3.9 for your vocational program, but since the majority of the credits do not transfer over and are counted as Pass/No Pass they do not go towards the GPA at PSU. On your official transcript from Chemeketa, I am seeing that you received an F. If this is incorrect, I recommend speaking with Chemeketa's Registrar Office and see what can be done. Since Fall term is your first term at PSU, you get a new GPA from PSU which you have the opportunity to definitely increase your cumulative GPA.

I hope this makes sense. Please feel free to ask any clarifying questions.

Leo Perez

On Tue, Aug 13, 2024 at 12:29 AM William Morehead <wilmore@pdx.edu> wrote:

Hello, I was looking over my unofficial transcripts after noting my GPA in My PSU was a 2.8... I don't understand. I have a current GPA of 3.9. There's a philosophy class from back when i was 18 that I never actually took from chemeketa it says I got an F in. I registered for the class but i dropped it and never even went to a single class. Then there are 0's for a lot of classes I took at Clackamas that should all be 4.0's. What's going on with my transcripts?

Leo Perez Lopez <lperez2@pdx.edu>
To: William Morehead <wilmore@pdx.edu>

Thu, Aug 15, 2024 at 10:41 AM

Hi William,

If the grades are on the transcript then yes they will be included. Credits do not expire. Sometimes vocational programs still require you to do some general education courses like WR 121, and social sciences. I recommend speaking with your previous schools to see what may have happened, in which they gave a letter grade.

Leo Perez

On Thu, Aug 15, 2024 at 1:09 AM William Morehead <wilmore@pdx.edu> wrote:

Just to clarify, I had enrolled in like 3 classes. Never went to a single one. I'm actually quite surprised to see a grade at all. I certainly never paid for the class lol. I guess "F" was for "Free" lol

On Tue, Aug 13, 2024 at 11:13 AM Leo Perez Lopez <lperez2@pdx.edu> wrote:

Hi William,

The reason why it is a 2.8 is because the vocational classes that you took at PCC do not go towards the GPA. They are transferred as a Pass/No Pass. The 2.8 is coming from courses that are counted as letter grades from your PHL 201, WR 121, Psychology class. You have a 3.9 for your vocational program, but since the majority of the credits do not transfer over and are counted as Pass/No Pass they do not go towards the GPA at PSU. On your official transcript from Chemeketa, I am seeing that you received an F. If this is incorrect, I recommend speaking with Chemeketa's Registrar Office and see what can be done. Since Fall term is your first term at PSU, you get a new GPA from PSU which you have the opportunity to definitely increase your cumulative GPA.

I hope this makes sense. Please feel free to ask any clarifying questions.

Leo Perez

On Tue, Aug 13, 2024 at 12:29 AM William Morehead <wilmore@pdx.edu> wrote:

Hello, I was looking over my unofficial transcripts after noting my GPA in My PSU was a 2.8... I don't understand. I have a current GPA of 3.9. There's a philosophy class from back when i was 18 that I never actually took from chemeketa it says I got an F in. I registered for the class but i dropped it and never even went to a single class. Then there are 0's for a lot of classes I took at Clackamas that should all be 4.0's. What's going on with my transcripts?

William Morehead <wilmore@pdx.edu>
To: Leo Perez Lopez <lperez2@pdx.edu>

Fri, Aug 16, 2024 at 8:55 AM

I just completed my A.A.S. in Welding Technologies and yes I took the gen ed MTH-080, PSY-101, BS-101, WR-121z, MFG-109(Material Science). The chemeketa transcript and the clackamas one are 20+ years apart. I just found it odd, since I never actually started attending college at chemeketa that I received a grade.

On Thu, Aug 15, 2024 at 10:41 AM Leo Perez Lopez <lperez2@pdx.edu> wrote:
Hi William,

If the grades are on the transcript then yes they will be included. Credits do not expire. Sometimes vocational programs still require you to do some general education courses like WR 121, and social sciences. I recommend speaking with your previous schools to see what may have happened, in which they gave a letter grade.

Leo Perez

On Thu, Aug 15, 2024 at 1:09 AM William Morehead <wilmore@pdx.edu> wrote:

Just to clarify, I had enrolled in like 3 classes. Never went to a single one. I'm actually quite surprised to see a grade at all. I certainly never paid for the class lol. I guess "F" was for "Free" lol

On Tue, Aug 13, 2024 at 11:13 AM Leo Perez Lopez <lperez2@pdx.edu> wrote:
Hi William,

The reason why it is a 2.8 is because the vocational classes that you took at PCC do not go towards the GPA. They are transferred as a Pass/No Pass. The 2.8 is coming from courses that are counted as letter grades from your PHL 201, WR 121, Psychology class. You have a 3.9 for your vocational program, but since the majority of the credits do not transfer over and are counted as Pass/No Pass they do not go towards the GPA at PSU. On your official transcript from Chemeketa, I am seeing that you received an F. If this is incorrect, I recommend speaking with Chemeketa's Registrar Office and see what can be done. Since Fall term is your first term at PSU, you get a new GPA from PSU which you have the opportunity to definitely increase your cumulative GPA.

I hope this makes sense. Please feel free to ask any clarifying questions.

Leo Perez

On Tue, Aug 13, 2024 at 12:29 AM William Morehead <wilmore@pdx.edu> wrote:

Hello, I was looking over my unofficial transcripts after noting my GPA in My PSU was a 2.8... I don't understand. I have a current GPA of 3.9. There's a philosophy class from back when i was 18 that I never actually took from chemeketa it says I got an F in. I registered for the class but i dropped it and never even went to a single class. Then there are 0's for a lot of classes I took at Clackamas that should all be 4.0's. What's going on with my transcripts?